

SCRIPT FOR CHILD SOLDIERS PHOTOSTORY BY AYOM DEE, YEAR 10 ESL

DATE: 27 NOVEMBER 2007

My name is Ayom Dee and I am from Sudan, in eastern Africa.

Sometimes, in some parts of Africa where there is war, children are taken to fight as soldiers when there is a shortage of soldiers in the war fields.

The older soldiers recruit them for three months or less when they are really needed in the fields.

They are given army uniforms and firearms and distributed to the battlefields.

The firearms given to them include rifles, and AK47s.

The child soldiers are always distributed to places in troops either by foot or by trucks.

After reaching the battlefields, they join other soldiers in fight against their enemies and at last they either win or lose and other soldiers are also killed.
